FOCUS (See Front Cover)

BRADFORDIAN, John Brown, who has satisfied good judges that they could travel far without finding a more competent deputy for goalkeeper Alan Kelly, first caught the discerning eye when he was 16. The promise was clearly there when he then signed as an apprentice in February, 1964. He duly showed the right touch and approach in his League debut at Bolton (2-4) in October, 1966. Quiet and conscientious, he stepped up to become the recognised second choice when Gerry Stewart was transferred.

CARDIFF CITY

CARDIFF CITY are always welcome at Deepdale because they usually play attractively and have contributed to many entertaining games liberally spiced with goals; last season's 0-0 was an exception. Their record here since 1962 is four wins, two draws, four defeats, yet they scored only 12 goals to 25.

Successive North End wins from 1965-66 by 9-0, 4-0 and 3-0, were followed by 0-1, 1-2, 1-2 and 0-0 in Cardiff's favour. Their 2-1 win here in October, 1971, ironically was their only away victory. It helped to save them from relegation by one point and goal average.

Cardiff have been out of Division One since 1962, but after seeing promotion on the horizon when North End were in Division Two they finished third. Since then they have been struggling. Their record for the last 11 seasons is —

A professional club for 64 years, Cardiff City had spent a decade in non-League football when elected to Division Two in 1920 in place of Lincoln City. They immediately won promotion and became one of the most successful clubs in Britain. In 1923-24 they missed winning the League Championship by .024 of a goal when level with Huddersfield Town, with 57 points each.

They suffered another near miss in 1925 by reaching the F.A. Cup Final and losing 0-1 against Sheffield United. Two years later, by beating Arsenal 1-0 at Wembley, they became the only club to take the F.A. Cup out of England.

MANAGER

JIMMY SCOULAR, ever a tough fighter, has had his prowess and reputation put through severe tests since he became Cardiff's manager in 1964.

The Ninian Park club was up to the neck in debt, with little hope of money for re-building, and had lost Division One status.

To his credit he kept it out of further trouble, and had looked like seeing promotion earned when he was struggling again. He pulled through, but only just.

Jimmy was a craggy wing half in almost 600 League and Cup games for Portsmouth, Newcastle and Bradford where he gained managerial experience in 1962. His career started at Portsmouth in 1945 when he left the Royal Navy.

CHARLT

WELL, here we are, everything I have been writing about has been good news, but I am afraid it is bad news this week, after our two defeats at Notts County and Millwall.

I don't mind getting beaten and I cannot really blame the players. As far as they are concerned we came up against two teams who, at that particular time, played very well indeed. I know it sounds foolish, but we could have won both matches if the ball had run for us. Unfortunately it didn't.

Our position in the Division, however, is still quite healthy, and I am sure the players will have learnt a lot from these two defeats. We certainly did not like it, but these are the lessons we have got to learn.

I have no doubt the players are of the right character, who will benefit from the defeats by that little bit of extra effort—if that is at all possible—when we play to-day. I am sure that the professionals are proud enough to be wanting to put right everything that went wrong last Saturday and Monday.

On the other side, without being over sympathetic to our own cause, our injuries certainly have not helped. The timing of them certainly has been very unfortunate, indeed, in terms of "Nobby" Stiles being injured in the first ten minutes on Saturday; and on top of that in Monday's game Graham Hawkins pulling a muscle just after I had replaced Gordon Coleman with Tony Morley, thinking that we just needed a fresh pair of legs up front to save something from the match.

These are the things which help to destroy morale if you allow them to do so, but I am sure that I do not need to tell you that the players at Preston have the right character to come back from these setbacks with even more determination.

I have been rather busy during the last week or two answering queries about the Testimonial Match for George Ross. I can understand everyone wanting to know details, as it looks as if the team that will play for the All Star XI will more than give Preston North End a good match. When you think of names like Gordon Banks, Bobby Moore, Howard Kendall, Peter Thompson, Jack Charlton, Ricky Heppolette, Archie Gemmill, and others we expect to play, you know they will be out for a good game. As Preston North End can be relied upon to give 100% we should see a very competitive match, and the right sort of tribute to George Ross, who always played his hardest when in the North End team.

I am certainly looking forward to having a game. It will give me a chance to shed the couple of pounds I have put on since I stopped playing!

25 YEARS AGO

by WALTER PILKINGTON

1948-49 JOE WALTON did not get back into the team for a month after his wedding because his ambitious deputy Bill Brown put up a fair show, although it was obvious that the weaknesses which had put the team on the slide were not confined to the full backs, nor remedied when Finney was absent.

The team when Arsenal's visit on October 11th drew a 32,000 "gate" was Newlands; Brown, Scott; Horton, Corbett, Davie; Bogan, McLaren, McIntosh, Beattie and Langton. It was Tommy Bogan's third match. A clever player, signed from Celtic on September 30th, he somehow did not fit in and appeared to be injury prone, a pity because he had genuine craft.

Fourth from the bottom, North End put up a valiant fight after being a goal down in five minutes. Curtains again, the pessimists thought, and Corbett's failings at centre half gave them ammunition. This weakness stood out a mile but obstinate insistence on trying to justify the big fee paid for him to Celtic still kept him in.

Willie Shankly

An equaliser by Willie McIntosh salvaged a precious point. Hearts and heads were raised after the next match just 25 years ago but for four days. No one really expected anything at Huddersfield, one of North End's recognised burial grounds. Instead there was the turn-up of a 2-0 win, in spite of Tommy Finney's injury still keeping him out of the side.

Perhaps the re-appearance for the first time this season of that now veteran warrior Willie (as he was then known) Shankly had something to do with it. He had faded but his vocabulary still did not include the word defeat. His legs would not obey the commands of a character whose approach to a game always had been "over my dead body".

It was sad to see Huddersfield, famed as an elegant, sophisticated championship-winning team, reduced to rough and tough vigour, with Hepplewhite settling the pattern by grinding McIntosh into the ground, but it did not save their skins. The centre forward did not score, not having any relish for no-quarter combat but those two bright little skilful sprites, Bobby Beattie and Andy McLaren (Hepplewhite was big enough to eat the pair of them at breakfast) did, and there was some added satisfaction in the fact that North End had two goals disallowed.

NORTH END'S record after 13 League games is virtually the same as it was 12 months ago:

	P.	W.	D.	L.	F.	A.	Pts.
1972-73	13	5	4	4	12	10	14
1973-74	13	5	4	4	15	15	14

The opening phases were strangely similar in that eight matches without defeat followed a poor start in each season.

	P.	W.	D.	L.	F.	A.	Pts.
1972-73	4	0	1	3	1	5	1
	8	5	3	0	9	2	13
1973-74	3	0	1	2	1	4	1
	8	5	3	0	12	4	13

What happened in the succeeding matches of last season-eight (five away) for nine points by 10 goals to 8-can hardly be called a slump.

MIDDLESBROUGH are gradually drawing away from tenacious promotion rivals. Ahead of all of them since September 29th, and the only team not beaten at least twice, they strengthened their lead this week by drawing at Carlisle. It made their away record three wins, three draws. All the rest have lost on their travels.

Aston Villa and Bristol City are back in the running, with Luton Town in close proximity. Notts County maintained the good form which has taken them among the leaders, with Preston North End the sufferers on Saturday.

The other promoted Third Division team, Bolton Wanderers, have had the reverse experience of stumbling from second place to near the bottom. Others on the slide owing to not getting enough goals are Fulham and Swindon Town, who have also been in the runners-up position briefly.

PROMOTED Bolton Wanderers and Notts County have passed each other going up or down in their new sphere. Wanderers started with a rush, hovering round the top for a while, then slumped. Notts have climbed slowly but surely to eminence.

A good augury for Middlesbrough, the seemingly rooted Second Division leaders, is that after 13 matches they had as many points, 19, as promoted Burnley at the corresponding stage last season, and Burnley went up.

So did Queen's Park Rangers who were second then with 18, one more than Bristol City's present total. Is this another portent?

AT THE bottom 12 months ago were Cardiff City, with 8 points, and just above them, Orient, Millwall, Carlisle (9 each). As all four avoided relegation, struggling Crystal Palace, the only winless League team, may still see hope here of escaping that fate, despite the big difference in points.

North End add their sympathy to the condolences given to the club's president, Mr. Nathan Buck, of Broughton, and his family in their bereavement by the death of his wife, Mrs. Margaret Buck. A gracious lady who never put on airs, she was liked for her kind disposition and honest Lancashire frankness, and respected by her many friends and everyone else who knew her.

She shared her husband's love of the club, going back long before he became a director in August, 1930, and rejoiced with him in an escape from Division Three, the quick rise back to the First Division in 1934, and the added glory soon afterwards of two Wembley appearances and a Cup Final win, not least through being glad her help and devotion had brought a deserved reward.
